2017-2018

MSc. TOURISM WITH PROJECT MANAGEMENT

The aim of this programme is to develop a graduate that has sound knowledge of tourism and project management so that tourism projects can be well-managed and meet the intended project outcomes using sophisticated modeling rather than archaic mechanisms that are costly. The global tourism industry is becoming increasingly competitive and sophisticated, and as such the tourism practitioner needs to acquire a new and different skills set so that his/her organization could respond quickly and knowledgeably to the rapidly changing external environment. Planning, developing, implementing, evaluating and monitoring tourism policies and actions require both a sound knowledge of the constituent parts of tourism and effective project management skills. This programme therefore aims at enhancing institutional capacity of public and private sector organizations by integrating an understanding of the broader tourism context with the acquisition of scientific project management competencies.

Objectives

The programme aims:

- To generate the level of intellectual and academic qualities required to expand the boundaries of knowledge in the chosen specialist field;
- To extend the breadth of tourism-related education, knowledge and competencies in the Caribbean;
- To develop the qualities and transferable skills including initiative, strategic focus, decision-making and independent learning ability necessary for today's complex tourism environment;
- To develop the capability to plan, monitor and control the implementation of projects through the use of effective project management tools and techniques;
- To enhance the institutional capacity of both private and public sectors in the English-speaking Caribbean to manage projects efficiently.

Entry Requirements

To qualify for entry to this programme, applicants should normally have at least a Second Class Honours degree or its equivalent. Candidates with Pass Degrees who have other relevant qualifications and substantial experience will be considered for entry on a case-by case basis.

Duration

The programme can be completed in 18 months of full-time study or 24 months of part-time study. A full-time student will be allowed a maximum of 24 years to complete the programme and a part-time student will be allowed a maximum of 48 months.

Programme Structure/ Course of Study

Students are required to gain 42 credits through successful completion of 8 compulsory and 4 elective courses (3 credits each) and a final project (6 credits). Some courses will have an Action Learning component which will enable the student to link theories and concepts to industry practices.

Classes are held during the traditional semesters and sessions are also held during the summer period. Some courses are semester-long while other courses are conducted in intensive two to three week periods. At the end of the taught component of the programme, students may choose to do a Research Paper or an Internship with an Applied Research Project.

Internship with Applied Research Project

Students selecting the Internship with Applied Research Project will be required to undertake a three-month internship and submit a paper documenting their experience and relating it to material covered throughout the core programme. The report must be underpinned by sound theoretical and conceptual ideas taught throughout the course and must therefore demonstrate strong and relevant links between theory and industry practice(s). Students with little work experience in the industry should be encouraged to take this option.

Research Paper

Students selecting the Research Paper will independently study an area of their interest in tourism or hospitality management.

Students will be given guidance throughout the stages of the research process and produce a research paper presentation of their topic. The student will develop an appropriate research programme incorporating empirical data gathering as well as a literature review highlighting the development of theory/ conceptual frameworks. The final research paper must include a literature review, methodology, results, discussion, conclusions, bibliographies and appendices.
