

BIOLOGY

The chapters in this section represent a mixture of new research that has not previously been published and research already published in international journals. The latter are reprinted here with permission from the publishers to provide a complete set of the research outputs from the Eastern Caribbean Flyingfish Project.