

MANAGEMENT

As in the previous section the chapters in this section represent a mixture of new research that has not previously been published and research already published in international journals. The final chapter attempts to summarize progress since the end of the Eastern Caribbean Flyingfish Project.