DEAN'S REMARKS

Once again, it is the start of a new academic year at the U.W.I Cave Hill Campus, and as with any turning of the calendar page, we have lots to look back on with gratitude and much to look forward to with anticipation and excitement. I warmly welcome new and returning students to the Faculty of Social Sciences as some begin, and others continue their journey with us.

As the new academic year dawns, we are into the fifth year of what has been dubbed “the great recession” that began in 2007. Caribbean nations, like so many others around the world, continue to grapple with the adverse effects of this deep and prolonged recession and the anemic economic recovery. The university and the faculty have been adversely impacted by this phenomenon and no doubt a number of you have also been personally impacted.

The Faculty of Social Sciences, your faculty, whether you are in the Department of Economics; Government, Sociology & Social Work, or Management Studies, is at the centre of the debate as to the crafting of solutions to mitigate and reverse the adverse effects of this “great recession” as well as seizing the opportunities provided. Whether it is “Growth vs Austerity,” “Electoral Campaign Financing,” “Productivity in the Public Sector” or “Hotels vs. Villas”, we expect you as students to engage the academic staff and each other on these issues, and be active participants in shaping the future.

Our goal in the faculty is to facilitate you as you engage in your studies and foster your development as citizens of competence, conscience, and compassion. The faculty aims to be efficient in the delivery of its services, and making maximum use of available technologies is an integral part of our efficiency thrust. As students you will find that the campus’ website, www.cavehill.uwi.edu, and the Social Sciences website, www.cavehill.uwi.edu/fss, will provide much relevant information and utilizing these resources will enhance your personal efficiency.

Our excellent and dedicated staff is here to serve as you join or continue UWI’s tradition of excellence. Let me again extend a warm welcome to new and returning students and wish you a successful year.

Justin Robinson, PhD
Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences

BSc HOTEL MANAGEMENT

BSc TOURISM MANAGEMENT

The Department offers only Level I of the two above programmes. After completing Level I, students go on to the Centre for Hotel and Tourism Management in the Bahamas to complete a BSc Special degree in one of the Hotel Management or Tourism Management Programmes as follows:

BSc HOTEL MANAGEMENT

1. Level I is as for BSc programme on page 78
2. Levels II and III of the programme operate on a semester basis of two semesters per academic year. Each semester's study comprises five (5) half-courses for full-time students and a minimum of two (2) half-courses for part-time students. Normally a student is required to satisfactorily complete eighteen (18) half-courses – nine (9) full courses – within two years and may additionally choose two (2) half-course optional electives, e.g. Foreign Language, Data Processing. The electives do not count towards assessment of the class of degree.
3. Half-courses required to be taken:

 - (xv) Personnel Management and Industrial Relations
 - (xvi) International Tourism
 - (xvii) Caribbean Tourism
 - (xviii) Hotel Law
4. Students are also required to spend two 12-week segments working under staff supervision within the industry. Detailed regulations concerning these internship periods are issued to all students enrolling in this programme.

Scheme of Examination

5. (i) Levels II and III examination will consist of a minimum of twenty (20) papers each normally of two hours duration.
- (ii) Students will be examined in each half-course at the end of the semester in which it is taught, i.e. five papers per semester. Optional electives will not necessarily be available.
- (iii) A Level II and III student taking a normal full-time load of five half-courses per semester who fails all such courses in a given semester will normally be required to withdraw from the Faculty.

BSc TOURISM MANAGEMENT

The Level I requirements for the Tourism Management option are the same as that outlined above for the Hotel Management option.

1. Regulations similar to those for the BSc Hotel Management apply - See Regulations 1-4 above.

BSc HOSPITALITY AND TOURISM MANAGEMENT

This Programme is offered jointly with the Barbados Community College (BCC), Antigua and Barbuda Hospitality Training Institute (Antigua), T.A. Marryshow Community College (Grenada), Sir Arthur Lewis Community College (St. Lucia), and Clarence Fitzroy Bryant College (St. Kitts). In the programme, students are required to complete the Two-Year Associate Degree in Applied Arts - Tourism and Travel, or the Associate Degree in Applied Arts - Hotel Catering and Institutional Operations, (or equivalent) with a 2.75 grade point average, before proceeding to complete years 3 and 4 in the Faculty.

The four-year programme consists of a core of Hospitality and Tourism courses, along with Business and Management courses, in two (2) areas of specialisation, viz. Hospitality Management and Tourism Management. The vocational courses, particularly in Hospitality, will be undertaken during the first two years of study at the purpose-built facilities of the Hospitality Division of BCC. In years 3 and 4 a range of Business and Management courses is offered mainly at the Cave Hill campus of the UWI. The four-year programme is designed to be both academically sound and specifically relevant to the Regional Hospitality and Tourism Industry. The training will provide opportunities for employment in hotels, transportation and tour operation companies, travel agency operations, national and regional tourism organizations and government departments. It will be of benefit to those already in the industry as well as those seeking to enter this diverse field.

Students will receive practical exposure to kitchen, restaurant and general hotel management operations at the Pommarine Training Hotel facility. They will also be given the opportunity to gain experience and a realistic appreciation of the working environment of the industry through an internship scheme. A six (6) week internship is undertaken at the end of Year 2, and a further twelve (12) week industry internship is undertaken at the end of Year 3 of the programme. Language training is built into the degree programme as a requirement during the first two years.

This course will introduce students to:

- National Income Accounting
- Macroeconomic Model Building and Analysis
- The Theory of Small Open Economy
- Money and Banking
- The International Economy

ECON 1003 – MATHS FOR SOCIAL SCIENCES I

Basic algebraic techniques: Sets; Matrices; Matrix solutions to systems of linear equations; Relations; Functions; Graphs; Coordinate Geometry; Limits; Differentiation; Integration; Maxima and minima curve tracing; Linear programming and the calculus of two variables. The application of the foregoing to the Social Sciences.

This course is not for students with 'A' level Mathematics.

ECON 1004 – MATHS FOR SOCIAL SCIENCES II

Prerequisite: A-level Mathematics or ECON 1003

This course would build on the material covered in the introductory course. Topics to be studied would include: Finite Mathematics, including sets, relation, function. Classical Algebra including partial functions, remainder theorem, theory of equations; linear algebra including vector, matrices, linear system of equations, rules, eigen vectors, quadratic forms, advanced calculus, especially all types of optimisations problems; differential and difference equations.

ECON 1005 – INTRODUCTORY STATISTICS

The collection, compilation and tabulation of statistics, and their representation by charts, diagrams, averages, measures of dispersion and association, and index numbers. Elementary aspects of distribution theory, estimation theory; and hypothesis testing. The use of mechanical aids to calculation and tabulation. The analysis of variance technique. Elementary decision making theory.

No prerequisite.

FINA 1001 – ELEMENTS OF BANKING AND FINANCE

The objective of this course is to introduce students to the role of Banking and Finance in an economy, and the unique managerial issues that confront financial institutions. Specific topics to be covered include:

- The Institutions that Comprise the Financial Sectors in the Eastern Caribbean.
- Organisational Structure of Financial Institutions
- The Legal Framework and the Legal Constraints within which Financial Institutions Operate.
- The Basic Features of the Banker/Customer Relationship.
- Banking Customers and the Types of Accounts Offered.
- An Introduction to the Services provided by Banks to both Retail and Business Sectors:

- The Lending Function and its Origins
- The Risks to which Financial Institutions are exposed
- How the Banks and the Banking System create Credit and affect the Money Supply
- Why Monetary Policy includes Regulation of the Banking Systems and the means employed.

LEVEL II COURSES

ECON 2000 – INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS I

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

The Methodology of Microeconomics: The Scientific Method. Scientific Validity. The Methodological Controversy.

Consumer Theory and Analysis: The Cardinal Theory. The Ordinal Theory. Revealed Preference. The Law of Demand, Engel's Law, Elasticity. External Effects on Consumption. The Price Index. The "Characteristic" Approach. Risk Analysis. Empirical Demand Functions.

Production Theory and Analysis: The Production Function. Profit Maximization. Homogeneity. The Multi-Product Firm. Cost Functions. X-efficiency. Linear Programming. Market Equilibrium: Supply and Demand in the Market. Existence, Uniqueness and Stability of Market Equilibrium. Walrasian and Marshallian Conditions for Static Stability. Dynamic Stability – The Cobweb. Model and Relationship to Agricultural Production.

ECON 2001 – INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMICS II

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

The Product Market: Profit Maximization Models – Perfect Competition, Monopoly, Monopolistic Competition, Oligopoly. Alternative Models - Sales Maximization, Growth Maximization, Administrative or Cost-Plus Pricing. Game Theory.

The Labour Market and Distribution: The demand for labour under different market structures. Monopsony. Rent and Quasi rent. Distribution of the product among productive inputs. Product exhaustion Theorems (Euler, Clark-Wicksteed). General Equilibrium and Welfare Theory: Pareto Optimality. The Marginal Conditions for Optimal Resource Allocation. The Social Welfare Function and the Second Order Condition for Welfare Maximization. Arrow Possibility Theorem. Theory of the Second Best.

Introductory Project Analysis: Discounted Cash Flow Analysis. Social vs Private Cost-Benefit Analysis. Investment Criteria - Net Present Value. Internal Rate of Return.

ECON 2002 – INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS I

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

1. Scope of Macroeconomic Analysis
2. Alternative Macroeconomic Paradigms
3. Theoretical elaboration of select Macroeconomic Paradigms
4. Formulation and Analysis of Macroeconomic Models
5. Macroeconomic Stabilisation Policy

ECON 2003 – INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS II

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

1. The Consumption Function
2. The Investment Function
3. The Demand for Money
4. Labour Supply and Demand
5. Expectations Formation and Policy Effectiveness
6. The Government Budget Constraint and the Consistency of Macroeconomic Models
7. Capital and the Growth of an economy

ECON 2004 – PUBLIC POLICY ANALYSIS

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

This is an intermediate economics course designed to provide non-specialist economics students with the principles involved in the analysis of public policies such as government intervention in the market, regulation, subsidisation, privatisation etc. The course examines both the microeconomic and macroeconomic principles governing the formulation of public policies.

Syllabus:

- The Elements of Public Policy:
- Microeconomic Context of Public Policy:
- General Equilibrium Analysis and the Concept of Market Efficiency. Equity Considerations. Market Failure and Externalities. Property Rights. Public Choice. Regulation and Rent-Seeking.
- Macroeconomic Context of Public Policy:
- Macroeconomic Policy Formulation. Political Business Cycles. Policy Optimisation and Reaction Functions. Economics of Voting.

ECON 2005 – SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ACCOUNTING

Prerequisite:

ECON 1005 Introductory Statistics

The outline syllabus is as follows:

- i) The Social Accounting Matrix
- ii) Expenditure, Output and Income at Current Prices
- iii) International Transactions and the Balance of Payments Accounts
- iv) Inter-Industry Transactions and Input-Output Analysis
- v) Expenditure, Output and Income at Constant Prices
- vi) Real National Income and the Terms of Trade
- vii) International Comparisons of Living Standards

ECON 2006 – ECONOMIC STATISTICS

Prerequisite:

ECON 1005 Introductory Statistics

1. The objective of the course is to produce students who, given the appropriate raw materials, could:
 - (i) produce data themselves
 - (ii) write a report using the data
 - (iii) write a critical commentary on a report which used the data
2. The course is as follows:
 - (i) Introduction
 - (ii) Unemployment, including problems of definition,
 - (iii) Inflation, including construction of index numbers, introduction to time series
 - (iv) Living standards, including measurement of real national income, terms of trade
 - (v) Balance of Payments, including simple forecasting techniques, accounting with stocks and flows
 - (vi) Overview, economic activity in the Eastern Caribbean over the last two decades

ECON 2008 – STATISTICAL METHODS I

Prerequisite:

ECON 1005 Introductory Statistics

Probability Theory. Distribution Theory. Inferential Statistics. Goodness of Fit. Analysis of Variance.

- measurement, inference from survey data

ECON 2016 – MATHS METHODS FOR SOC SCIENCES II

Prerequisite:

ECON 1004 Maths for Social Sciences II

Mathematical analysis; elementary properties of sets of points; limiting processes and convergence; the derivative and the integral; partial differentiation; constrained and unconstrained extremum problems; simple systems of differential and difference equations.

ECON 2020 – THE CARIBBEAN ECONOMY

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

The development of Caribbean Economies. Introduction to Development Theory. Contemporary Characteristics of Caribbean Economies.

ECON 2022 – INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 Introduction to Microeconomics

ECON 1002 Introduction to Macroeconomics

Elementary theory of international trade in goods and services; the structure of world and regional trade and the main factors influencing the flow of goods and services; the relationship between trade, growth and development, commercial policy (tariff and non-tariff barriers to trade, countertrade); regional economic cooperation; the role and functions of international trading agreements and institutions (GATT, LOMÉ, CBI, CARIBCAN, UNCTAD); the international monetary system (IMF, The World Bank, the Euro-currency market); the theory and problems of balance of payments.

FINA 2001 – REGULATORY ENVIRONMENT OF BANKING AND FINANCE

The objective of this course is to give students a thorough knowledge of the major laws and regulations governing the delivery of financial services in the Caribbean. Particular emphasis will be placed on decided cases where applicable. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Banker/Customer Relationships
- Bills of Exchange, including cheques
- Security (Property and its use as Security)
- Central Bank (regulations) as a Regulatory Agency
- The Baise Core Principles
- Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Legislation.

FINA 2002 – QUANTITATIVE METHODS FOR BANKING AND FINANCE

Good decision making requires sound information and this course aims to familiarize students with data handling and analytical skills relevant to managerial decision making. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Banker/Customer
- Financial Mathematics
- Descriptive and Inferential Statistical Methods
- Probabilities and Hypothesis Testing
- Anova Analysis
- Correlation/Regression Analysis
- Forecasting Techniques
- Time Series Analysis
- Linear Programming
- Simulation
- Optimisation Techniques

FINA 2003 – INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY FOR BANKING AND FINANCE

The aim of this course is to provide students with a thorough understanding of the role of IT in the delivery of financial services and the major software packages employed in the financial services industry. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Computer Systems in the Organization
- Information Processing
- Data Security
- Systems Development
- Hardware and Operating Systems
- IT Applications in Banking and Finance

FINA 2004 – PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT 1

This course covers the elements of investments, the construction of optimal investment portfolio using common stocks, bonds, etc. that suit the objectives of different types of investors. Methods of measuring portfolio performance, the risk of return trade off and the efficient diversification of risk. Industry analyses, fixed income securities and theories, asset valuation, of interest rates and an introduction to derivative securities. The course also looks at issues surrounding the investment of large pools of institutional funds such as pension funds, mutual funds, endowments, and capital holdings of insurance companies. As such the module is intended to provide useful material for treasury operations, asset liability management in financial institutions and fund manager in pension funds and other collective products. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Portfolio Principles and Objectives
- Portfolio Construction
- Portfolio Management
- Portfolio Protection

FINA 2005 – RISK ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT

The objective of this course is to provide students with a thorough understanding of the major risks confronting financial institutions, and the techniques used to manage these risks. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Introduction to Types of Risk
- Basic Concepts and Models of Operational Risks
- The Specialness of Financial Intermediaries
- Depository vs Nondepository Institutions
- Identifying the Risk for Insurance and Financial Firms
- Liquidity and GAP Analysis for Financial Institutions
- Credit risk analysis and valuation for financial Institutions
- Loan Portfolio Management
- The FOREX Exposure of Financial Institutions
- Interest Rate Mismatching and Hedging

- Performance Evaluation and Control for Financial Institutions
- Compliance Programs and Internal Audits to Reduce Risks & Exposure

LEVEL III COURSES

ECON 3000 – MANAGERIAL ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

The Business Environment. Value Creation and Profit. Optimization Techniques. Consumer analysis. Decision Making Under Risk and Uncertainty. Regression Analysis and Empirical Estimation of Demand Functions. The Production Process. Economic versus Accounting Concepts of Cost and Profits. Pricing Analysis and Decisions. Advertising and Promotional Decisions. Capital Budgeting and Investment Decisions.

ECON 3001 – INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS I

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

The Industrial Organization Framework. Market Structure and Performance. Market Concentration. Pricing Theory and Strategy. Game Theory. Innovation and Market Structure. The Managerial Firm. Firm Size and Diversification. The Multinational Firm and Transfer Pricing. International Organization. Vertical Integration. Technology choice. Industrial Policy. The Structure and Performance of Industry in the Caribbean. Case Studies of Selected Industries.

ECON 3003 – MONETARY ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

ECON 2003 Intermediate Macroeconomics II

- Meaning and Function of Money
- Demand for Money Supply of Money

- Interest Rates
- Monetary Policy and Rational Expectations
- Inflation
- Money and Balance of Payments in the Open Economy
- Currency Substitution

ECON 3005 – MONETARY THEORY AND POLICY

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

This course seeks to provide students with the fundamentals of Monetary Theory both in a developed and developing Economy Context. Role of Money in the Economy (Theoretical Schools): Money Supply Determination; demand for Money; Interest Rate Determination. Money, Inflation and Output; Money and The Balance of Payments.

ECON 3006 – INTERNATIONAL TRADE POLICY

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

Elementary Theory of International Trade including alternative theories of trade. The Structure of World Trade and the Main Factors Influencing Trade: including trade in services. The Relationship Between Trade, Growth and Development. International Trade Policy. Regional Economic Integration: including South-South Cooperation. International Investments: The Multinational Firm. Institutions and Agreements which Influence International Trade: GATT, LOMÉ, etc.

ECON 3007 – INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- The Balance of Payments.
- The Foreign Exchange Market: including the Euro-Currency
- Market and Analysis of the Efficient Market Hypothesis.

- International Adjustment and Stabilization.
- The International Monetary System: History Problems and Proposals for Reform.
- International Capital Markets and Movement of Capital.
- The International Debt Problem.

ECON 3008 – HISTORY OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 – Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2001 – Intermediate Microeconomics II

ECON 2002 – Intermediate Macroeconomics I

ECON 2003 – Intermediate Macroeconomics II

This course will seek to expose students to the history of economic thought. Students will learn about the intellectual thought patterns and assumptions of various periods in history, and how those patterns influenced, and were influenced by economic thought. Numerous previous theories, some forerunners of modern theories, and other dead-end theories that have since been abandoned, will be studied – including Mercantilism, the Physiocrats, Marxism, Marginalists, Neoclassical, Keynesian, Chicago, Institutionals, Welfare Economics, Public Choice, the New Institutionals, and Austrians. By the end of the semester students will know where the theories they are learning in other classes came from, and something about the many other approaches that have been tried throughout history.

ECON 3010 – FINANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

Theory of Financial Intermediation. Caribbean Financial Environment Portfolio Behaviour of Financial Institutions, i.e. Central Banks, Development Banks, Insurance Companies, Other Non-Banks, Stock Exchange.

ECON 3011 – ECONOMICS OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

The nature and economic significance of the Financial System. Theory of Financial Intermediation. Caribbean Financial Environment. Flow of Funds Analysis. Management of Financial Intermediaries. Interest Rates and Security Prices. Borrowing and Lending in Money and Capital Markets. Efficiency Market Theory. Regulation of Financial Institutions.

ECON 3016 – PUBLIC FINANCE I

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- Role of Government
- Theory of Public Goods
- Public Enterprise
- Budgeting Public Expenditure
- Cost-Benefit Analysis
- Income Distribution
- Stabilization Policy

ECON 3017 – PUBLIC FINANCE II

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- Efficiency Analysis
- Tax Incidence
- Taxation and Labour Supply
- Taxation and Investment
- Tax Effort and Elasticity Analysis
- Income and Corporate Taxation
- Indirect Taxes
- Tariff Analysis

ECON 3019 – TRANSPORT ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2001 Intermediate Microeconomics II
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I
ECON 2003 Intermediate Macroeconomics II

The course has been structured to cover the following areas:
The theory of transport pricing; The economics of transport costs; Transport and developing countries; Transport planning; Ocean transportation; The economics of aviation and airport, and economic considerations in land transport.

ECON 3020 – ECONOMIC INTEGRATION

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

Aspects of Economic Integration
Approaches to Economic Integration
Integrative Mechanisms & Obstacles to the Integration Process
Gains from Economic Integration
Integration Dynamics
Select Problems on Planning within an Integration Region
Cast Studies of Select Integration Experiences.

ECON 3024 – ECONOMICS OF EDUCATION

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I
ECON 2003 Intermediate Macroeconomics II

Topics:

- The Nature of Human Capital Investment.
- The Economic Returns to Education and Training.
- The Contribution of Education and Economic Growth and Development.
- The Principles and Techniques of Educational Planning.

- Financing Education – Principles of Costing and Expenditure Analysis.
- Productivity, Efficiency and Equity of Education.

ECON 3026 – HUMAN RESOURCES POLICY AND PLANNING

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- Human Capital Theory – investment in training and education.
- Labour and Economic Development – models of development and employment generation, internal and external migration.
- Theories of Employment and Employment Policy.
- Poverty and income Distribution.
- Manpower Planning Theory and Policy in Developing Countries.

ECON 3027 – ECONOMIC PLANNING

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

The ideology of planning. Levels of planning. Planning Strategy. Planning models. Input-output analysis. Accounting prices. Decision formulae. Tools of project appraisal.

ECON 3029 – LABOUR ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- Nature of Labour Economics.
- The Structure of Labour Markets.
- The Supply of Labour.

- The Demand for Labour.
- Labour Market Interaction – wage and employment determination under different market structures and institutional arrangements.
- The Economics of Trade Union Behaviour and Collective Bargaining.
- The Structure of Labour Compensation.

ECON 3034 – ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

Microeconomic and Macroeconomic issues relating to the pricing and taxation of renewable and renewal natural resources. Depletion Theory and Policy. Economic issues relating to the exploitation of natural resources. The Valuation of Environmental Resources. Problems with natural resource exploitation in the Caribbean. Impact of Industrial/Tourism Development on Natural Resources.

ECON 3035 – ECONOMIC FORECASTING

Prerequisites:

ECON 1004 Maths for Social Sciences II

ECON 2008 Statistical Methods I

The aim is to acquaint students with the full range of forecasting techniques, describing their essential characteristics and showing how they can be applied in practice.

Basic concepts of forecasting: Need and uses of forecasting, type of forecasting, introduction to some of the terminology.

Trend-line fitting and forecasting. Introducing trends, estimating a curve, forecasting using trend curves.

Time series methods. White noise, moving averages and autoregressive models, exponential smoothing and smoothing methods in general. Decomposition methods, ARMA methods, Box-Jenkins methods.

Regression methods and Econometric models. Simple regression, multiple regression, use of Econometric models in forecasting. Qualitative and subjective forecasting.

Evaluation forecasts. Mean square error and other criteria.

Forecasting and planning in organizations.

ECON 3037 – OPERATIONS RESEARCH I

Prerequisites:

ECON 1003 Maths for Social Sciences I

ECON 1005 Introductory Statistics

- Non-Linear Programming – Constrained and unconstrained models.
- Dynamic Optimization – Calculus of variations and optimal control.
- Dynamic Programming
- Linear Programming
- Special Cases in Linear Programming
- Integer Programming and Combinatorial Models.

ECON 3038 – OPERATIONS RESEARCH II

Prerequisites:

ECON 1003 Maths for Social Sciences I

ECON 1005 Introductory Statistics

- Theory of Games
- Markov Decision processes
- Inventory Models
- Waiting Line Models
- Probabilistic Dynamic Programming Models
- Simulation
- Project Scheduling

ECON 3043 – Economics of Tourism

Tourism is now recognized as an economic activity of global significance. This complex and multi-faceted industry plays an important role in the economies of many developed and less developed countries. Although the impact of the tourism industry on economic life is generally positive, the economic costs are not insignificant. Additionally, the economic benefits of tourism may be offset by adverse environmental and social consequences. The major objective of this course is to give the macroeconomic picture of tourism's role within national economies using the fundamental concepts learned in introductory economics courses. Since socio-cultural and environmental impacts also form an essential part of the evaluation of the long-term advantages and disadvantages of tourism development, these issues will also be covered.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course you should:

- Be aware of factors that influence leisure and recreation
- Possess relevant travel terminology with a solid understanding of the various sectors of the tourism industry
- Be able to distinguish between tourism as an industry and tourism as a system
- Be able to assess external factors and trends affecting the travel industry and the impact of tourism
- Examine the nature of tourism demand and tourism supply
- Understand the role of tourism in the economic development of a country
- Explain how tourism development can influence the socio-cultural and natural environment of a country

ECON 3045 – CARIBBEAN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

Objective:

The course attempts to provide the analytical equipment required for studying aspects of the transmission processes in the small open dependent economy. It familiarizes the student with the institutional framework of Caribbean economies and develops a feel for the contemporary policy issues.

Structure:

Modelling the small open economy (basic relations)
Income determination
Balance of payments and development
Wages, prices, and employment
Money and financial behaviour
Trade and production patterns
A research project

ECON 3046 – SMALL OPEN ECONOMY THEORIES

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

This course will address theoretical issues pertaining to the genetic characteristics behavioural peculiarities and structure of small open economy. It will examine the interrelationships among macroeconomic variables in small open economy, under alternative institutional settings, paying particular attention to Caribbean economic environment. It will also examine the influence on transmission mechanisms of labour and product market disequilibria, and foreign exchange insufficiency, using the special case of an equilibrium system as a basis for comparison. Methodological issues pertaining to model construction and analysis will be discussed. Analytical issues pertaining to stabilization policy in Caribbean economies will also be addressed.

ECON 3049 – ECONOMETRICS I

Prerequisites:

ECON 1004 Maths for Social Sciences II
ECON 2008 Statistical Methods I

Syllabus:

General Linear Model Generalized Least Squares. Breakdown of Assumption on GLM. Simultaneous Equations.

ECON 3050 – ECONOMETRICS II

Prerequisites:

ECON 3049 Econometrics I

Lagged variable, dummy variables, and their use in Econometrics. Single equation methods in demand analysis. Consumption theory etc. Uses of large scale macroeconomic models. Model simulation. Forecasting.

ECON 3051 – ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT I

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

A critique of methodological approaches. Static and dynamic analysis. Stage theories of development. Structuralist models. The international economy. Models of small dependent economies. Structural adjustment and development. Strategies of development.

ECON 3053 – AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT AND POLICY

Prerequisites:

ECON 2001 Intermediate Microeconomics II
ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

- Agricultural and the Economy: Importance of agriculture and dynamic.
- Special problems of agriculture. Agriculture and public policy.
- Theories of Agriculture in Economic Development.
- Institutional Aspects of Agricultural Development: Marketing Tenure and Credit. Strategies of Development.

- Systems of Agricultural Organization: The Plantation Case. The Peasant Case. Mixed Patterns.
- Techniques of Project Analysis
- Case Studies of Selected Agricultural Problems in the Caribbean.

ECON 3054 – AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

Prerequisites:

ECON 2000 Intermediate Microeconomics I

ECON 2002 Intermediate Macroeconomics I

The Role of Agricultural Production Economics: An overview.
Technical Properties of Production: A positive analysis.
Economic Properties of Production: A normative analysis.
The Theory of Cost and Supply: Imperfect Competition – Agricultural supply functions.
The Theory of Derived Demand: Food demand functions.
Firm-Household Interrelationships: theoretical issues.
Uncertainty and Risk.

ECON 3070 – Economics of Technological Change

Prerequisites:

ECON 1001 – Introduction to Microeconomics

OR

ECON 1002 – Introduction to Macroeconomics

This course explores the impact of technological change on the process of economic growth and development. The aim is to sensitize students to the central role innovation and technological progress play. The course exposes students to relationships among factors leading economic growth from industrialization to 21st Century developments. The course achieves this by considering both theoretical and empirical analyses of innovation as they relate to issues of economic development in history, international trade and the organization of production. These forces are perhaps never fully understandable using the usual tools of Micro and Macro economic analysis alone.

FINA 3001 – CARIBBEAN BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

This course aims to provide students with a thorough understanding of the institutional framework of Caribbean economics and the contemporary issues shaping public policy in the Caribbean. Particular emphasis is placed on how the institutional framework and public policy initiatives impact on organizational decision making, and the response of organizations to public policy to interest group pressures.

Specific topics to be covered include:

- The Development of Caribbean Economies
- The Small Open Economy Model
- Trade and Production Patterns
- Balance of Payments Issues
- Globalization
- The Role and Impact of Trade Unions
- Environmental Impact of Business Decisions
- Corporate Governance

FINA 3005 – BANK FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

The objective of this course is to examine how modern finance techniques can be applied to the financial management of commercial banks. The wider strategic context of bank financial management is emphasized throughout the course. Banks are viewed as financial service firms operating in the wider financial services industry. Three unifying themes emphasized are: managing risk and return tradeoffs; the need to maximize banking value; and the integration of 'market thinking' into financial management. Specific topics to be covered include:

- Banks and the Financial Services Industry
- Regulatory Restrictions and Financial Management
- Performance Analysis and Strategic Planning
- Asset Management – Liquidity, Investment and Loan Management

- Liability and Deposit Management
- Capital Structure and Dividend Decisions
- Financial Management Implications of Electronic Banking, International Banking, and other Developments.

FINA 3008 – ADVANCED PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

This course takes a more detailed look at the issues covered in Portfolio Management 1. Particular emphasis is placed on the role of derivatives and financial engineering in portfolio management. An integral part of this course is an interactive computer based investment simulation allowing students to apply their knowledge to building “real” portfolios. Specific topics to covered include:

- Portfolio strategies involving derivatives
- Portfolio risk management using derivatives
- Contemporary issues in portfolio management

FINA 3010 – SUPERVISED RESEARCH PROJECT

GENERAL

1. The Supervised Research Project is equivalent to two (2) Faculty courses and must therefore reach that standard in terms of content and research effort.
2. It is restricted to those majoring in Banking and Finance

PROCEDURE

1. Students must choose a topic for study which is primarily financial in focus and which should broadly fall within a sphere of research specialization of one of the Banking and Finance lectures. They must seek the advice and approval of the lecturer who is willing to act as supervisor of each study. On occasions when the chosen topic spans more than one subject area or discipline, joint supervision with another university lecturer may be recommended.

2. Students should submit a proposal to and consult regularly with their supervisors. It is the students' responsibility to inform supervisors of progress and general difficulties and to seek specific advice on bibliographical material and research methods (preparation of questionnaires, etc)

PRESENTATION

- I. The study should normally be between 5000 to 8000 words in length, excluding bibliography.
- II. It should contain some originality in material, argument and conclusion and evidence of extensive reading and comprehension of the subject area. The research should also be explanatory rather than descriptive in nature.
- III. Each study must have a little title page, with the student's name, supervisor(s) name(s) and title of the paper.

DEPARTMENT OF GOVERNMENT, SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIAL WORK

LEVEL I

GOVT 1000 – INTRODUCTION TO POLITICAL ANALYSIS

In this course the student will receive an introduction to classical political philosophy. Theories of the state, modern political science methodologies, comparative government, Caribbean political thought, international politics and colonialism and some basic tools in helping you to clarify your political beliefs, in understanding our political environment and in enabling you to analyze events with a greater degree of sophistication, consistency and clarity.

GOVT 1001 – INTRODUCTION TO CARIBBEAN POLITICS

This course intends to build upon the theoretical concepts introduced to students in GOVT 1000, with a more direct and specific empirical focus on Caribbean political issues. The course will introduce students to a few of the basic concepts in the historical evolution of Caribbean political economy and society, and will seek to familiarise students with contemporary socio-economic and political development issues of relevance to the Caribbean. It is also intended to expose students to the relevant issues involved in understanding the nature of Caribbean political economy, Caribbean Political systems and the wider politics of the Caribbean.

It is hoped that upon completion of this course students should be able to identify, describe, understand and analyse and explain the historical and contemporary forces shaping Caribbean politics. Students should also have a basic knowledge of the workings of Caribbean political systems.

GOVT 2000 – WOMEN AND POLITICS

This course will examine the relationship between women and politics globally. It will analyse Conventional political theory and women, conventional and feminist theory on gender, the history of the women's movement, international political economy and women, the United Nations and women, (with reference to UN agencies for women and resolutions) human rights and women, violence against women, constitutional and legal rights of women, the gender gap in politics and women's involvement in the political system. In addition, attention will be paid to specific public policy initiatives as they affect or are likely to affect women.

1. Theoretical underpinnings of the study of women and politics.
2. Classical social movements and the women's movement.
3. The history of the women's movement.
4. The constitutional and legal position of women in the Caribbean.
5. The gender gap in politics: women in the political system: outsiders or insiders: a comparative perspective.
6. Gender and political economy.
7. Structural adjustment and women.

GOVT 2010 – THE POLITICS OF DEVELOPING NATIONS

This course will seek to examine the Politics of Developing Nations from the perspective of theories of political development, patterns of political rule and political economies of chosen state systems. It will seek to capture this perspective as well, by means of case studies shown from Latin America, Africa and South Asia.

1. Theories of Political Development
2. Patterns of Political Rule
3. Political Economy

4. Case Studies

- (a) Theories of Political Development
- (b) Patterns of Political Rule
- (c) Political Economy
- (d) Country Case Studies
 - (i) India
 - (ii) Nigeria

GOVT 2014 – WESTERN POLITICAL THOUGHT

This course will follow the development of European political thought from the Ancient Greek philosophical schools to the origins of modern political thought in the 19th century. Issues concerning the origins of political thought per se will however be investigated as well, taking note e.g. of the contribution of Ancient Egypt to Greek philosophy. The pre-cursors to modern political thought and evolution of political values and ideologies will be identified. Theories of the state and their social-historical milieu will be investigated and the contribution of political philosophy to the development of political institutions addressed. The philosophy and historical sources of contemporary civil and political rights and their philosophical assumptions will be reviewed and assessed.

This course is designed to provide tools of philosophical analysis for the political scientist.

GOVT 2015 – MODERN POLITICAL THOUGHT

This course will investigate dominant schools of political thought in the 20th century and political theory relevant to assisting interpretation of the politics of development. Modern liberal democratic thought and 20th century Marxist thought; Nazism and Neo-conservatism; Anti-colonial thought and Nationalism; and West Indian political thought will be reviewed and assessed.

This course will also provide exposure to critical methodologies used in contemporary political science.

GOVT 2016 – CARIBBEAN POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

With a Caribbean-centred approach, the course aims to give the student an introductory understanding of Caribbean Political Philosophy and the wider intellectual context in which this branch of the Caribbean intellectual tradition has grown and currently operates. The course will analyse the nature of Caribbean Political Philosophy within the socio-historical, cultural and ideological contexts of how it emerged – slavery, colonialisation and creolisation. Specific attention will be paid to the three branches of Caribbean Political Philosophy: namely Historicism, Poeticism and Africanism. From the Historicist school the course will examine the works and ideas of C.L.R. James, Jose Marti and Frantz Fanon. This course will address comparatively the dominant models of liberal democratic state systems. Issues of the origin, consolidation and development of the state will be a major focus. Explicit attention will be paid to the models of government in the U.S.A., Britain and France and the practice of politics in their systems. The function of liberal democratic philosophy is shaping the institutional development and political culture of these states will be assessed and the impact of these state systems on global political culture will be noted. The persistence and sustainability of these systems in the context of global political developments will be examined. The course is designed to enhance skills in comparative analysis.

GOVT 3000 – AFRICAN PHILOSOPHY IN ANTIQUITY

This course will provide students with a universalist approach to the seeking of origins. It will engage students in rigorous exercises in comparative analysis of ideas of fundamental concepts and first principles – on self-knowledge, on cosmogony and cosmology. It will address epistemology in the context of a dialectic of civilisation. It will expose students to philosophy generally as cognitive agency. It will provide original and extensive sources to the student to engage in critical analysis and assessment of philosophic schools of thought across a wide spectrum. It will give students in depth appreciation of the debate on Africa's contribution to world civilisation. It will provide important insights into the roots of racism.

GOVT 3014 – THEORIES AND CONCEPTS OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS

1. Theories of International Politics
2. Concepts of International Politics (power, sovereignty, intervention and non-intervention, collective security, national interest, decision-making, geo-politics, personality/leadership, human rights, international terrorism, leverage, functionalism and integration, etc.).

GOVT 3015 – INTERNATIONAL POLITICS AND POLITICAL ECONOMY

This course is intended to give students different perspectives on international issues of the day. It will focus on the interplay between international politics and international political economy as it relates to issues such as those of globalisation and imperialism, 'development' and 'underdevelopment', the role of international organisations, the changing international political order, the theory and practice of foreign policy, war and peace, religion, environmental issues and the role of women in the international political economy. These issues will be examined in the context of the theories and approaches to international relations.

GOVT 3017 – CARIBBEAN GOVERNANCE I

The course is designed to give students an in-depth examination of the government and politics of the Caribbean. While the examination will give emphasis to the nation states of the Commonwealth Caribbean, it will also include non English-speaking state systems, such as Suriname, Haiti, and the French West Indies. The course will therefore expose students to a number of theoretical approaches and concepts that have been utilised to interpret the historical heritage and contemporary practices, political practices, societal relations, political economy and culture in the region. The course also takes an applied approach. It is expected that this would develop the students critical thinking skills through the comparative approach.

The concepts that will be developed include colonialism and neo-colonialism, imperialism, peripherality, pluralism, devel

GOVT 3018 – CARIBBEAN GOVERNANCE II

The course will provide students with the tools with which to interpret state formation and development in the Commonwealth Caribbean. It will address issues of institutional political forms in the region, from the 16th Century to the 21st Century, emphasising the critical issues shaping the development of the Westminster model in the region. It will expose students to the theoretical debate on political institutions and to the Continuing discourse on the appropriateness of the dominant political form in the region.

Among other critical issues, the course will also look at the role of the early nationalist movement in shaping the modern state formation in the region. It will therefore consider the roles of individuals and early political organisations and movements. Emphasis will also be given to the role of elections, electoral press, political parties, and the bureaucracy in the formation of public policy. the course will end with a review of the approach to regionalism and foreign policy in the region.

The nature of the course will favour a multidisciplinary approach drawing as necessary from politics and law, focusing specifically on international political economy and international trade law.

GOVT 3025 – TRADE AND THE ENVIRONMENT

The course provides an understanding of the relationships between international trade (with particular focus on the World Trade Organization) and the protection of the environment. The nature of the course will favour a multidisciplinary approach drawing as necessary from politics and law, focusing specifically on international political economy and international trade law.

The course aims to provide students with the tools to discern the critical relationships between international trade and protection of the environment. Given the complexity and the interrelationship between human activity and the environment, there is a need to understand areas of potential conflict between trade as the political and economic activity of people and the physical environment within which this occurs. Trade cannot occur without the environment, and this makes it necessary to examine this relationship. Overall the course represents an illustration of the conflict of values and means of resolution, as between trade and the environmental, within system of international trade and international politics.

GOVT 3049 – CARIBBEAN INTERNATIONAL POLITICS

1. International theories and weak states
2. Caribbean foreign policy relations
3. The administration of Caribbean foreign policy

PSYC 2015 – CULTURE AND PSYCHOLOGY

Situating the study of human behaviour in the context of culture has gained tremendous momentum in the past several decades. This course is designed to explore this movement historically and conceptually. The course will cover cross-cultural research however the focus is not on cross-cultural appreciation nor on the development of a taxonomy of cultural differences. Methodological issues as they pertain to the conduct of research across cultures, will be emphasized as will emergent theories important to the study of culture and psychology. The course will include an exploration of how recent advances in understanding the relationship between sociocultural contexts and human behaviour have offered new insights into long held views of human functioning. The course will also examine how ignoring and misunderstanding the role of culture in human behaviour has lead psychology to participate in the perpetuation of racist ideologies in western societies. In this way the course is intended to help psychology students become critical consumers and producers of psychological research. This course will address culture from a developmental and social psychological perspective, with emphasis on the study of culture in the Caribbean context. The class is highly interactive by design and relies on discussion to facilitate critical thinking about the issues under consideration. Meetings will be divided between lectures, guided discussions and activities.

PSYC 2016 – COMMUNICATION PSYCHOLOGY

Prerequisites:

PSYC 1003 Introduction to Psychology or

Topics for discussion will include prejudice and discrimination, interpersonal attraction, close relationships, social influence, prosocial behaviour, aggression, and social psychology applied to health.

PSYC 3014 – INDUSTRIAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY

This course explores the applications of psychological theories and concepts to problems encountered in work environments with special reference to the Caribbean. It will address the research methods and consulting techniques used to study and modify behaviour in organizations. Topics for discussion will include research methods in Industrial and Organisational Psychology, employee recruitment and selection, evaluating employee performance, employee training and development, motivation, job satisfaction, communication, organizational culture and human factors.

PSYC 3021- RESEARCH THESIS IN APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY (MAJORS)

Prerequisites: For Psychology Majors only

This course is designed to develop an understanding, instill an appreciation, and provide hands on experience in designing and conducting an original piece of research in psychology. Students will gain experience in applying theories and skills attained throughout their undergraduate programme to conduct research. This two-semester research thesis will involve empirical and/or theoretical work using scientific methodology to address problems that emerge out of the condition of the Caribbean experience.

PSYC 3022 – RESEARCH PROJECT IN APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY (MINORS)

Prerequisites: For Psychology Minors only

This course is designed to develop an understanding, instill an appreciation, and provide hands on experience in designing and conducting an original piece of research in psychology. Students will gain experience in applying theories and skills attained throughout their undergraduate programme to conduct research. This one-semester research project will involve empirical and/or theoretical work using scientific methodology to address problems that emerge out of the Caribbean experience.

PSYC 3024 – APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY RESEARCH METHODS

Prerequisites:

PSYC 1004 Introduction to Social Psychology or

PSYC 1007 Fundamentals of Psychology or

PSYC 1003 Introduction to Psychology

This course is designed to provide psychology students with the knowledge, skills and abilities necessary to conduct successful research studies and to improve the research skills of third year psychology students in the following courses:

(PSYC3021 Research Thesis in Applied Psychology (2 semesters) and PSYC3022 Research Project in Applied Psychology (for Minors) (1 semester). The emphasis will be on imparting both conceptual understanding and skills students can apply when designing their third year research studies: developing their research proposals, collecting research data, analysing research data and presenting research findings. This course will consist of lectures, tutorials and computer laboratory sessions, with each aspect geared at specific skill development.

SOCI 1000 – INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY II

The main objective of this course is to introduce students to the basic concepts, theories and methods of Sociology. It seeks to provide basic knowledge of the sociological approach to the study of social and economic problems and development, while ensuring that students have a clear understanding of the forms of explanation and methodological procedures used in Sociology for practical "scientific" analysis. It lays the foundation for more advanced sociology courses.

Topics for discussion include: development of sociology, introductory classical and modern theoretical perspectives, research methods in sociology, groups and social interaction, deviance, social inequality, social institutions, development of sociology in the Caribbean, social change and social development.

3. Documentary analysis - historical and case study material
4. Unobstrusive measures - erosion and accretion analysis
5. Participant and non-participant observation

SOCI 2007 – SURVEY DESIGN AND ANALYSIS

Prerequisite:

SOCI 2006 Qualitative Research Methods; AND

This course introduces students to survey research methodology. It will also expose students to the concepts of problem formation, sampling, instrumentation, ethics, and modes of data collection, processing and analysis.

The course will enable students to gain practical experience in the following areas: Conceptualisation & Operationalisation; Questionnaire Design; Survey Data Collection; The use of SPSS to enter and analyse data; and presenting findings in the context of social research.

SOCI 2013 – CARIBBEAN SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II, or
SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I,

This course builds on the content of the prerequisites and introduces the student to the practical world of Caribbean social development. The course provides a critical overview of the perspectives, definitions and indicators of social development as they have evolved from colonialism through the post-colonial Caribbean. The course will expose students to the basic techniques of project identification, design, monitoring and evaluation in the areas of social analysis and environmental impact studies. Actual projects in the wider Caribbean will be utilised. Students will also be exposed to the realities of poverty and development in the Caribbean and become familiar with the various social indicators measuring various aspects of poverty reduction and social development. Examination of community participation, the role of NGO's and questions of empowerment in social development programmes and projects will also be explored.

SOCI 2014 – CARIBBEAN KINSHIP

This course critically examines concepts and theoretical perspectives and biases in Caribbean Kinship studies. It examines variations in Caribbean Kinship ideologies and practices from the historical and contemporary perspectives and analyses, a range of kinship issues, problems and policies.

SOCI3000 – SUPERVISED RESEARCH

GENERAL

1. The Supervised Research Project is equivalent to a Faculty course and must therefore reach that standard in terms of content and research effort. It is a one-year six (6) credit course.
2. It is restricted to those majoring in Sociology and who have attained a B+ grade and over in SOCI 2006 Qualitative Research methods and SOCI 2007 Survey and Design Analysis.

PROCEDURE

3. Students must choose a topic for study which is primarily sociological in focus and which should broadly fall within a sphere of research specialisation of one of the Sociology lectures. They must then seek the advice and approval of the lecturer who is willing to act as supervisor for each study. On occasions when the chosen topic spans more than one subject area or discipline, joint supervision with another university lecturer may be recommended.
4. Students should submit a proposal to and consult regularly with their supervisors. It is students' responsibility to inform his/her supervisor of progress and general difficulties faced, and to seek specific advice on bibliographical material and research methods (preparation of questionnaires, etc.).

PRESENTATION

The study should normally be between 5,000 and 8,000 words in length, excluding bibliography.

5. It should contain some originality in material, argument and conclusion and evidence of extensive reading and comprehension of the subject area. The research should also be explanatory rather than descriptive in nature.
6. Each study must have a title page, with the student's
7. Studies should be typed (12 pitch font).
8. Bibliographies must be included.
9. Footnotes to elaborate briefly on points should be kept to a minimum.
10. Citations and References should follow Departmental Guidelines available from the Department Office.

DEADLINES

11. Submission of Proposal: 5th Monday of Semester I
12. Submission of final project: 1st Monday in April, of the year

SOCI 3004 – SOCIOLOGY OF TOURISM

This course aims to provide students with a broad sweep of some of the major theoretical and practical dimensions of the world's largest industry, particularly in the pan-Caribbean context, but examples globally will also be analysed. The course will look at the history of the emergence of the leisure industry and modern tourism in the world and in the Caribbean. Examination of the Sociology of Tourism and its theoretical and methodological underpinnings will be explored. The social, economic and cultural impacts of tourism will be stressed utilising the comparative perspective. Transactional analysis and examination of both tourists and locals will be analysed. Given the critical link between tourism and the environment various issues will be researched and the roles of community tourism, eco-tourism and the necessity of developing sustainable tourism will be a critical focus of the course.

SOCI 3007 – RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course is designed to introduce students to the field of Rural Development and its essential role and the various issues which are critical to the survival of millions of people globally and in the Caribbean. The course will explore the key issues and challenges facing rural populations, governments, practitioners and other stakeholders. The course will examine problems at both the micro and global level, particularly with respect to commodity production, international organisations such as the WTO, globalisation, as well as the critical link between agrarian reform and the environment. The course will examine the field from both an historical and comparative perspective exposing students to not only the history and problems of agrarian reform in the Caribbean but in other parts of the world. The linkages between agrarian reform, rebellion and revolution will be examined.

SOCI 3009 – INDUSTRIAL SOCIOLOGY I

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II, or
SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course on Industrial Sociology focuses primarily on the broad societal context within which the firm operates as countries of the Caribbean seek to adopt and establish industrial processes and practices in their productive activities especially in this era of revolutionary developments in information and telecommunications technology. It will seek to provide students with a clear understanding of the nature of work in the industrial setting and some understanding of the sociological principles that govern industrial society and the industrial workplace. It will therefore focus on the interrelationship of society and industry.

SOCI 3012 – SOCIAL PLANNING

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II or
SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course is intended to introduce students to the essential elements of Social Planning, its theory, its methods, design, implementation and evaluation.

From a distinctly sociological perspective, the course will focus substantively and critically on Criminal Justice agencies and activities as the police and law enforcement, correctional agencies and the courts and activities such as the adjudication of justice and the punishment and treatment of offenders.

SOCI 3026 – SOCIOLOGY OF DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II, or
SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course is designed to introduce students to the theories, models, policies and ideological underpinnings of economic and social development in the post-colonial world. It will examine the concept of “development and underdevelopment” and its implications for the post-colonial world. Although the course will focus principally on development policies, programmes and issues in the Caribbean, it is also intended to give the student a wider perspective in terms of comparative responses to the various challenges facing post-colonial countries in an increasingly globalised world. Therefore, specific topics which have and are facing Caribbean and other countries including debt, structural adjustment, trans-national corporations, and environmental issues will be explored.

SOCI 3027 – GENDER AND DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II or
SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course will introduce students to gender perspectives in development theory, and the application of gender perspectives to the analysis of Caribbean Development. The main gender issues in contemporary Caribbean development will be explored with special emphasis on the gender dimensions of economic, human and social development in the Caribbean and globally.

Topics for discussion will include: differentiating between sex and gender; differentiating between equity and equality; feminist concepts and theories; development concepts and theories; women in development; gender and development; gendered ideologies in education, work and family; gender policy & gender mainstreaming."

SOCI 3030 - THE SOCIOLOGY OF PENAL PRACTICE

Prerequisites:

SOCI 3017 Criminal Justice

Penology is the study of punishment of persons who have broken the law. This course involves issues related to these offenders, as well as what happens after their punishment. The course involves a series of lectures which examine both historical and contemporary issues within penology. The aim is to provide a detailed knowledge of the use of punishment in modern society. In addition, prison life, the impact of incarceration, and what happens after release are all discussed. Historical and current penal policy is explored. Policy related to areas of imprisonment, punishment in the community, early release and re-entry of prisoners will be analysed.

SOCI 3036 – POLICE AND SOCIETY

Prerequisites:

SOCI 3017 Criminal Justice

The course attempts a hands-on approach to aspects of criminology against the background of sociological and psychological theories of crime. This course will examine and critique two of the essential institutions in society intended to treat or deal with crime: law enforcement and corrections. As part of the content of the course, students will also develop complimentary research knowledge on deportees, a trenchant mater in the Caribbean that has numerous security, law enforcement and political considerations.

SOCI 2XXX – VIOLENCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Prerequisites:

SOCI 3017 Criminal Justice

This course examines the historical changes in the patterns and meanings of violence globally. Special attention is paid to individual, collective and state violence in the Caribbean context. The main theories explaining the causes of violence and current research on attitudes to violence and the use of force to bring about social and political change are reviewed. Strategies of conflict management and prevention and their relationship to development and the transformation of political culture and state institutions that seek to monopolize the legitimate use of violence are discussed.

SOCI 3033 – DRUGS AND SOCIETY

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II or

SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course explores drugs as a social problem from a systems perspective, examining how drug abuse permeates every segment of society including the individual, family, community, national, and international levels. Current theories and research relating to drug use will be reviewed and the prevention, intervention and treatment of drug abuse will be explored. The pharmacology or the effects of commonly used drugs on the body and brain will be examined.

The course will also study how drugs present the single most critical challenge to personal and regional security within the Caribbean. Therefore, the relationship between drug abuse and crime will be examined. Social-cultural factors contributing to the use and the abuse of drugs in the Caribbean region will be emphasized. There will be discussion of the development and administration of regional and international social policies concerning drug related issues. Agencies and institutions that administer drug policy will be identified. Political, legal, economic, psychological, biological, behavioral and spiritual aspects will be studied, in addition to the main focus of the course, which is the sociological context of drug use. This multi-disciplinary approach will give the student an understanding of the complexity of drug use and abuse in society.

SOCI 3035 – CARIBBEAN SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II or

SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

This course will expose students to a sociological analysis of several issues in Caribbean society. In addition to conceptual issues and definitions meaning, and measurement in each area, the course will be concerned with an examination of the extent, nature, causes and consequences of each topic covered.

Topics to be covered include: The study of Social Problems; Consensus Theory; Conflict Theory and Action Theory, Underdevelopment: Conceptual Issues; Under- development in the Caribbean; Development Strategies; Social Inequality: Income Distribution Poverty; The Distribution of Land and Wealth; Housing Conditions; Health Nutrition; Race Racism; Sex Sexism; Population Growth Size; Social Problems of Age Aging; Selected Population Problems; Labour Market Problems; Unemployment Underemployment; Access Welfare in Education; Gangs Social Formations; Family Function; Family Conflict: Divorce, Separation; The Status Condition of Children; Crime Delinquency; Drug Abuse; Mental Health; Politics; Media.

SOCI 3037 – SOCIAL DIMENSIONS OF INEQUALITY AND MARGINALISATION.

Prerequisites:

SOCI 1000 Introduction to Sociology II or

SOCI 1002 Introduction to Sociology I

Social inequality is a complex and multidimensional problem as is evident in both classical and contemporary theories of social stratification. The aim of the course is to explore the primary causes, forms and consequences of social inequality and marginalisation in the Caribbean. The course will allow for the application of stratification theories to past and emerging contentious social issues like male marginalisation, female vulnerability, poverty, crime, human rights, homosexuality and discrimination, ethnic bias, HIV/AIDS, etc. The use of qualitative and quantitative data in examining inequalities and marginalisation will be done with a view to enhancing research skills.

Topics for discussion include: systems of stratification - open vs closed systems of stratification (caste, estate & class systems), classical & modern explanations of social inequality, sex, gender & sexual inequality, religious, racial & ethnic inequalities, social mobility & human rights, unequal treatment of marginalised & vulnerable sub-populations, policy implications of inequality, methods used to reduce inequality.

SOWK 1000 – HUMAN BEHAVIOR

This course seeks to build a knowledge base about human behavior and growth which is necessary for Social Work practice. An ecological and systems framework (Systems Impact Model), together with a developmental approach to the major sociological and psychological theories, are used to provide an understanding of the interaction between a person and the social systems in which individuals live (families, groups, organizations, institutions and communities).

The course addresses the interrelatedness of biological, social cultural, environmental, and psychological factors in human behavior. Inequality, discrimination, and differential access to opportunities experienced by vulnerable groups, such as the elderly, the disabled, gays and lesbians are also examined. The content on race, gender, age, class, and sexual orientation addresses the impact which these conditions have on individual functioning at each developmental stage of the lifespan. Issues will be discussed within the Caribbean context.

Human Behaviour will also be scrutinized from a participation and integration perspective.

SOWK 1001 – INTRODUCTION TO SOCIAL WORK

This course will provide an introduction to the history, mission, and philosophy of social work and its development as a profession in the Caribbean. It will introduce the student to social work values, ethics, theories, knowledge base functions and skills, and examine the relevance of social work to the social, economic, and political changes in a society. In addition, the contribution of social, work in meeting needs of individuals, groups, and communities through delivery of social programs will be explored.

The student will be introduced to the history and current patterns of social welfare program development, and the range of services that comprise social work and social welfare service delivery in Barbados and the Region. Students will be able to observe the operations of various social service agencies through organised field visits.

The course will also be valuable for any student who wishes to gain knowledge about the purpose of social work and its development as a profession in the Caribbean.

SOWK 1002 – INDIVIDUALS AND FAMILIES

Prerequisites:

SOWK 1000 – Human Behaviour and
SOWK 1001 – Introduction to Social Work

The course introduces social work students to direct practice with individuals and families as client systems. It is particularly concerned with extending the student's understanding of the social work process as well as ability to make a complete psychosocial assessment upon which a feasible plan of intervention can be based and by which the outcome of case intervention can be evaluated. The focus will be on understanding the individual within the context of the family, societal alliances, and the broader societal setting. The West Indian family as a societal system will be discussed.

Course content will include methods of intervention that can be used to enable individuals to develop and function effectively in the family and society. Issues relating to the worker-client relationship and to values and ethical questions affecting interpersonal relationships will be examined. Students will also be introduced to the major theoretical frameworks relevant to casework intervention with individuals and families. The organizational context and the social service network within which social casework is practiced in Barbados and the Region will be discussed.

SOWK 2000 – SOCIAL WORK THEORY AND PRACTICE WITH GROUPS

Prerequisites:

SOWK 1002 – Individuals and Families

The purpose of this course is to provide Social Work students with the theory and practice of social group work. The course will address the initiation, facilitation and leadership of both task groups (social, recreation, education, skill, problem-solving and decision-making, self-help, socialization) and treatment groups from an ecosystems perspective. The focus of the course is to develop group leaders who understand group dynamics and effective leadership skills. The historical and theoretical foundations and the development of skills in group social work will be discussed and practiced. The course will emphasize issues that have application to a wide range of social work clients and situations in the Caribbean region.

SOWK 2007 - DISABILITY STUDIES

Prerequisites:

SOWK 1001 – Introduction to Social Work
SOWK 1000 – Human Behaviour

The purpose of this course is to provide an introduction to Disability Studies for students who wish to examine disability using theoretical frames and to understand policy development in the area.

It identifies the ways in which differently able persons are marginalized and restricted, and experience discrimination within an unadaptive society. Through descriptions of the current status of persons with disabilities in the Caribbean context, it examines the interaction of persons with disabilities within the existing, political, social, cultural and legal systems. The historical struggles for rights and services by persons with disabilities are highlighted. Policy needs for future development are outlined.

The course is designed for students to gain new and deeper understanding of the prolonged oppression of the disability community and to empower them to consider creative ways to initiate social change.

SOWK 2010 – INTERPERSONAL RELATIONS AND SKILLS LABORATORY

This course addresses the knowledge, intra and outer-personal skills, attitudes, values and behaviours social work students need in order to establish effective relationships and interventions in their field practicum and in their professional careers. The course design is an interactive approach which encourages social work students' "use of self" in their practice with persons in multiple systems. Building the foundation of students' self-development and self-reflective practice is a key component of the course.

Designed on a laboratory model, the course offers a supportive environment for identifying, developing and practising key social work values and skills, an approach recognised as effective in the preparation of students for placement in social work agencies. Learning objectives will be individualised for each student, based on their identified strengths and limitations and on core social work competencies and skills. Student collaboration and involvement in the planning of their professional skill development will be required in addition to meeting the course objectives. Direct observation by the lecturer as well as verbal and written feedback will be part of the student evaluation.

The rationale for the course is the need for high levels of self-awareness, empathy, tolerance, effective interpersonal communication, and ethical principles to deal with the increasingly complex and challenging professional and social environments. The course will attempt to more effectively prepare social work students by strengthening their academic and emotional attributes to face these challenges.

SOWK 3000 – SUPERVISED RESEARCH (Social Work)

GENERAL

- (1) The Supervised Research Project is equivalent to a Faculty course and must therefore reach that standard in terms of content and research effort.
- (2) It is restricted to those majoring in Social Work (SOWK 3000)

PROCEDURE

- (3) Students must choose a topic for study which is primarily social work in focus and which should broadly fall within a sphere of research specialisation of one of the social work lectures. They must then seek the advice and approval of the lecturer who is willing to act as supervisor for the study. On occasions when the chosen topic spans more than one subject area or discipline, joint supervision with another joint supervision with another university lecturer may be recommended.
4. Students should submit a proposal to and consult regularly with their supervisors. It is students' responsibility to inform his/her supervisor of progress and general difficulties faced, and to seek specific advice on bibliographical material and research methods (preparation of questionnaires, etc.).

PRESENTATION

The study should normally be between 5,000 and 8,000 words in length, excluding bibliography.

5. It should contain some originality in material, argument and conclusion and evidence of extensive reading and comprehension of the subject area. The research should also be explanatory rather than descriptive in nature.
6. Each study must have a title page, with the student's
7. Studies should be typed (12 pitch font).
8. Bibliographies must be included.
9. Footnotes to elaborate briefly on points should be kept to a minimum.
10. Citations and References should follow Departmental Guidelines available from the Department Office.

DEADLINES

11. Submission of Proposal: 5th Mondays, Semester I
12. Submission of final project: 1st Monday in April, of the year.

SOWK 3004 – FIELD INSTRUCTION I

Prerequisite:

Must have completed Levels 1 and 2

Field Instruction I provides students with opportunities for development of social work practice through direct work in social service agencies. The central focus of this field practice is on the application of social work skills within micro and mezzo client systems. Field Instruction I is the educational component where knowledge, values, and skills learned in the classroom are tested, reinforced and integrated in a disciplined manner. As students undertake learning tasks within the reality of agency life, a vital link is established whereby constructive use of theory, acquired through course work, can be applied. Values and attitudes are examined and skills are developed and refined.

Students are placed in social work and related agencies for eight (8) hours each day, four (4) days per week, for thirteen (13) weeks, totaling 416 hours. Field instructors/agency supervisors and students are guided in practice by the social work programme's field instruction coordinator. The use of a field instruction manual assures standardisation, continuity, and accountability for learning tasks, and their completion and evaluation, within the first semester field experience. Field Instruction I is held concurrently with Field Instruction Integrative Seminar I: SOWK 3006, a seminar designed to enhance and strengthen the field experience.

SOWK 3005 – FIELD INSTRUCTION II

Prerequisite

SOWK 3004 Field Instruction I

Field Instruction II provides students with opportunities for development of social work practice through direct work in social service agencies. The central focus of this field practice is on the application of social work skills within macro client systems in addition to the micro and mezzo client systems. Field Instruction II is the educational component where knowledge, values, and skills learned in the classroom are tested, reinforced and integrated in a disciplined manner. As students undertake learning tasks within the reality of agency life, a vital link is established whereby constructive use of theory, acquired through course work, can be applied. Values and attitudes are examined and skills are developed and refined.

SOWK 3006 – FIELD INSTRUCTION INTEGRATIVE SEMINAR I

Prerequisites – Completion of Level 1 and 2

Field Work Seminar I is held concurrently with SOWK 3004 - Field Instruction I and is an adjunct to the field instruction experience. This three (3) credit hour seminar prepares students for work in a social service setting and provides opportunities for students to integrate social work knowledge and theory with practice experiences from community agencies. Students engage in active discussion of the application of theory and practice to professional values, standards, and ethics based on aspects of the field instruction experience with clients systems.

The focus of Seminar I is on building student competence and skills with client systems at the micro and macro levels. Further development and practice of interventions, skills and techniques are encouraged through individual and group participation in the classroom. The importance of professional "use of self" in understanding personal attitudes, biases and stereotypes will be emphasized, along with a strong professional work ethic.

SOWK 3008 – FIELD INSTRUCTION INTEGRATIVE SEMINAR II

Prerequisite:

SOWK 3006 Field Instruction Integrative Seminar I

Field Instruction Integrative Seminar II is held concurrently with SOWK 3005 - Field Instruction II and is an adjunct to the field instruction experience. This three (3) credit hour seminar prepares students for work in a social service setting and provides opportunities for students to integrate social work knowledge and theory with practice experiences from community agencies. SOWK 3009 – COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS

Prerequisites:

SOWK 2000 Social Work Theory and Practice with Groups

The course introduces students to evolving theoretical approaches in generalist social work practice with communities and organizations as macro systems. It provides an understanding of communities and organizations as clients, and the concept of planned change at the organizational and community levels. Emphasis will be placed on the processes in organizations, particularly formal/bureaucratic and social service organizations in Barbados and the Region; the management of organizational and community change; leadership; and; and the strategies, methods and tactics used in assessment, planning and intervention in macro practice. The importance of advocacy, lobbying, and the building of alliances, networks, and coalitions within local organizations and communities will also be discussed. Students will be involved in group projects in local communities as a way of integrating theory and practice

SOWK 3031 – BIO-PSYCHOSOCIAL CHALLENGES OF HIV/AIDS IN THE CARIBBEAN

The aim of the course is to provide students with a knowledge base of the bio-psycho-social impact of HIV/AIDS on the individual and the inter-relatedness of these issues to the family, work environment and communities. Issues related to gender, human sexuality, behaviour change, ethical and legal considerations, the care and management of people living with HIV/AIDS and the delivery of services to this population will be examined. The impact of primary, secondary and tertiary prevention and intervention efforts to reduce the spread of the disease, and barriers limiting these interventions will also be explored.

SOWK 3032 SUBSTANCE ABUSE MANAGEMENT IN CARIBBEAN SOCIETY

Prerequisites:

SOWK 1002 - Individuals and Families Or
PSYC 2001 - Counselling I

This course provides a foundation for understanding substance abuse management and treatment in Barbados and the region. Students will examine the etiology of substance abuse, treatment approaches and policies and programmes pertaining to the prevention and treatment of substance abuse. The course will be delivered in a seminar format and will include guest lecturers involved in the delivery of substance abuse services from a variety of settings. The use of readings, lectures, videos, case studies, field visits, and practice exercises will contribute to a variety of learning experiences. Special attention will be given to substance abuse in relation to HIV/AIDS and other health concerns, clients with dual diagnosis, adolescents, and ethical considerations. The effects of substance abuse on families, communities and social systems will be examined utilizing a systems approach.

SOWK 3034 – CHILDREN & FAMILY SERVICES

This course will provide students with an understanding of the family as a system and its primary role in nurturing and socializing its members. From the perspective of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the course will also examine family and institutional patterns in the care, control, and protection of children in Barbados and the Caribbean.

Forms of child maltreatment, types of substitute and supplemental care and social services available to children and their families in the Caribbean (with special reference to Barbados) will be examined.

SOWK 4005 – CRISIS INTERVENTION

Prerequisites:

SOWK 1002 – Individuals and Families Or

PSYC 2001 – Counselling I

The focus of this course is to introduce to students the theories, models and practice techniques of crisis intervention in social services. Application of the principles, strategies, research, and basic skills of crisis work, particularly with individuals and families from special populations will be demonstrated through role plays, discussions, case analyses, and written assignments. Crisis intervention responses to domestic and juvenile violence, substance abuse, suicide and depression, HIV/AIDS and other health issues, will be examined to include the current, specific needs of Caribbean peoples in crisis. Natural and environmental disasters within Caribbean communities will be discussed. Ethical/legal matters as well as social policy issues will be presented in relation to the delivery of crisis intervention services within Barbados.
